

On my side as a feedback on last year's season, I would add the following 3 points:

1) lack of practice. The boys did not have enough opportunity to practice. Especially before crucial encounters, it would be judicious to have a practice session on the Friday or Saturday before the match. That will also be a good opportunity to fix / discuss last tactics before the match.

2) lack of mental toughness. Some boys are too soft and sometimes not enough focused. Lack of practice has a role to play in it but it is not the only remedy. When batting the boys have to stay focused each ball in order to avoid the bad shots.

3) last season, we lacked young legs in the middle order. However in the middle order you mainly rely on singles and doubles and wait for the bad ball to be hit. Our middle order was playing excellent strokes but was not running the singles. The lack of runs was then putting pressure on the batter himself who was pushed into false shots and hence getting out without moving the scoreboard.

Last year majority of our batting was getting out because of its own mistakes and not by the bowler. This because too much dots balls were pushing the batsmen to hit even a good ball. Otherwise a batter would be playing well, but then suddenly playing a false stroke due to lack of focus on each ball.

The bowling and fielding overall was ok in my mind. We can always do better but the standard set is ok. The batting however has to be fixed, notably by fixing the 3 aforementioned points.

Cheers!
